Netgear RP114 Cable/DSL Web Safe Router

The Netgear RP114 Cable/DSL Web Safe Router is the only one of the four hardware products reviewed here to offer content filtering. And installation via the RP114's setup wizard was the easiest of any of the gateways.

The RP114 comes with four Ethernet connectors and status lights on the front panel. A single Ethernet cable is provided in the box, along with an excellent, well-illustrated user guide. The content-control filter lets parents restrict Internet access by time of day, by URL, or by specific keywords (checked against HTML keyword tags, hidden text that describes a site's contents). The RP114 can be configured to limit Internet access from some PCs while letting others surf unimpeded. A logging feature keeps track of all Web activity, so parents can see which sites their kids visited.
